Aren't you supposed to be in class?

Dedication To Mr. Aaron Feuerstein

In the '50s, when many other textile manufacturers in New England fled to the South and countries outside the U.S., Malden Mills stayed put. When a reliance on fake fur put the company into Chapter 11 for a brief period in the early '80s, Feuerstein came back with creative alternatives, with Polartec as the offspring. And, on the chilling night of December 11, 1995, one week before Feuerstein's 70th birthday, a fire struck Malden Mills, destroying three out of ten of the factory's century-old buildings. Feuerstein vowed that evening to rebuild the 90-year-old business, and announced that he would pay all of his employees for the next 90 days. Within two months, 70 percent of the total work force was back to work, and today, Feuerstein remains committed to rebuilding Malden Mills into the most technically advanced, environmentally-correct mills in the nation, and hopes to have over 90 percent of the employees back to work by August 1996. His actions have swept the nation, earning Feuerstein the praise of employees, union officials, Americans across the country, President Bill Clinton, U.S. Secretary of Labor Robert Peich, Massachusetts Governor William F. Weld, and Bernard Cardinal Law, among others.

We join this elite group in saluting Mr. Feuerstein.

Seniors

Can you find the teacher in this crowd?

Hungry, hungry hippo!

Big and tall

The next line of defense

To be or not to be.

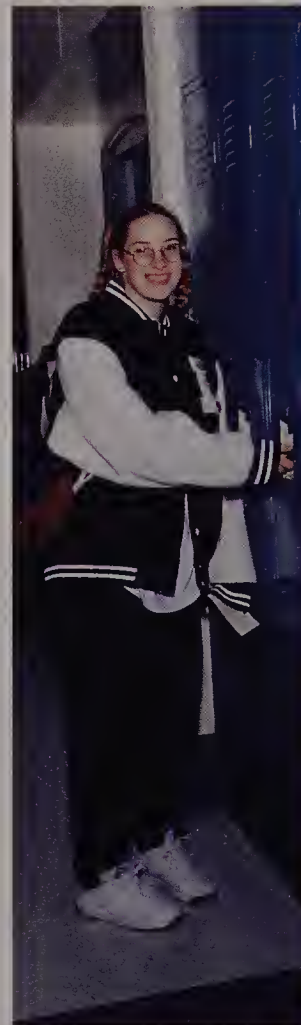

It's finally our turn!

Give me your lunch money!

Smile, you're on candid camera!

Can Pippy remember her combination?

Meet our ancient student, Twiggy!

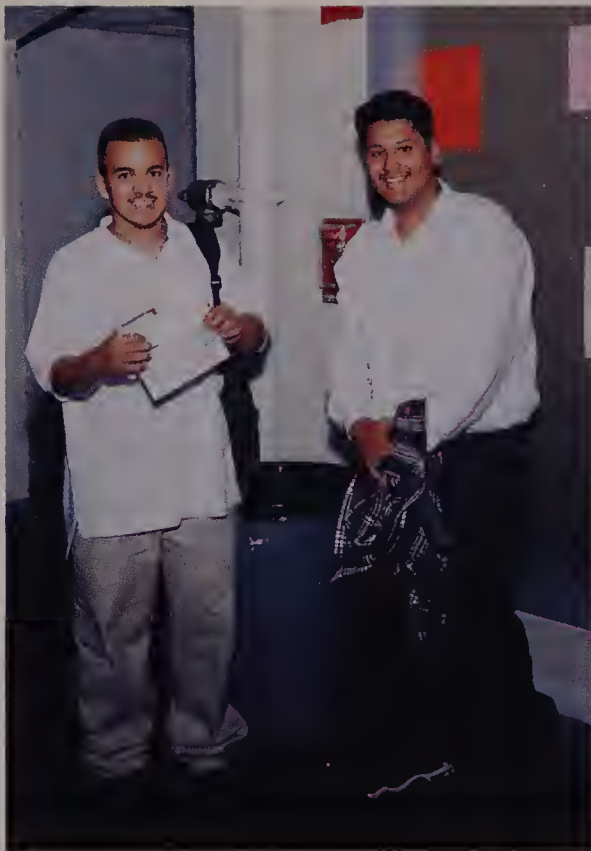

Our center, our quarterback, and Carlton.

I teach, therefore I am

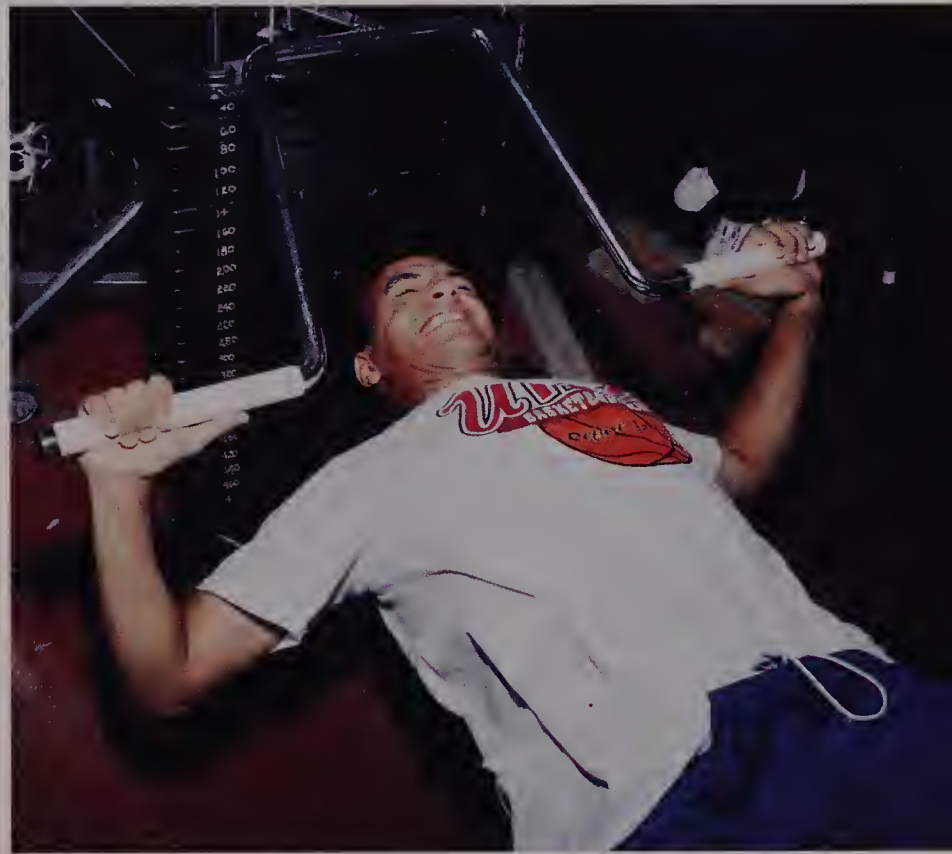

Adrian the criminal; Carlos the lookout

Don't jump, we'll be outta here in a couple of months.

Double Trouble

I must, I must, I must increase my bust?

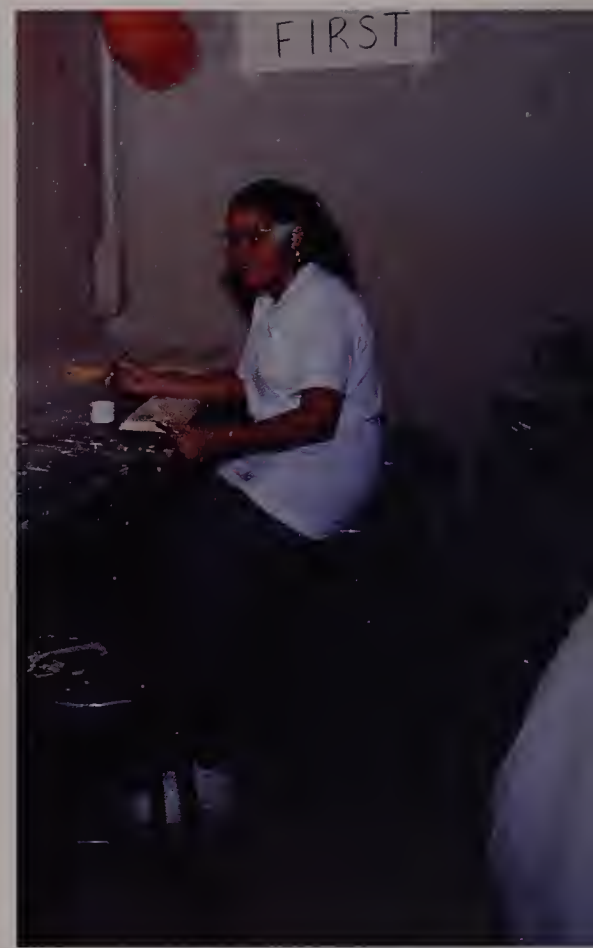

Nobody can jam like Lawtown

Jose hanging the bar.

Think before you enter.

50 and I'm still doing my homework!

A perfect smile.

Best buddies: Nora and Ms. LeFebvre.

Look at my arms.

310

Hurry up, we'll be late for choir!

There's no more toilet paper!

Former Mr. L.H.S making a profit.

Fabio's fabulous students.

Did somebody steal my running shoes?

Dr. C. seeking guidance from Mrs. Small

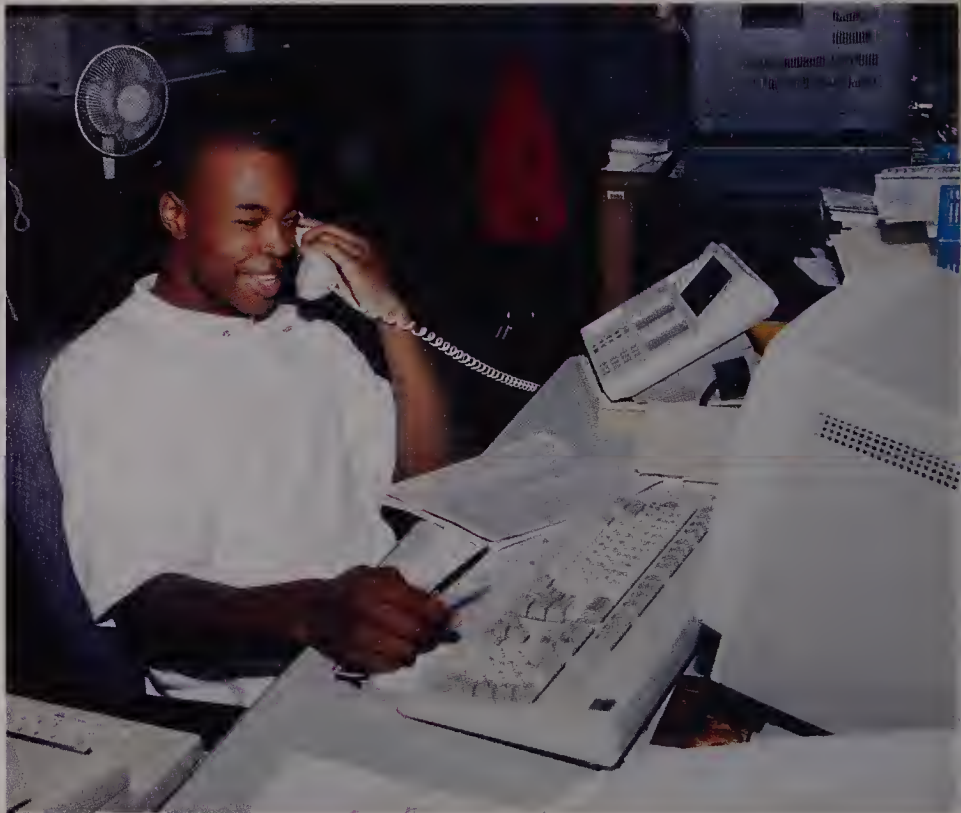

Hurry up, before my smile goes away

Which one is the security guard

Stop! Let's play jump rope.

And after work, I'm getting my hair done.

Do you have a pass?

What are you looking at

This is the only book I haven't read.

Wanna buy some candy?

Hey, it's Larry, Curly, and Moe!

Mr Chung giving the seniors his "3 rules".

Everybody's pal, Mr. Burton.

Eric, today's Saturday!

Don't clown around with me.

The three amigas

Look at the little freshmen.

Check 'em out.

Back in the days

Hip is where its at!

Best of friends (JAG)

Come on, you can do better than that
